

Reorganization of the Graduate School (GSID) of International Development

GSID will reorganize its two departments (International Development and International Cooperation Studies) into one department, to be called International Development and Cooperation. (Currently this reorganization is under review by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, and it is conditional on obtaining approval).

Entrance exams in July, 2017 (Doctoral program for October 2017 enrollment) and September, 2017 (Master's program for April 2018 enrollment) will be implemented in accordance with the current two-department organization. The method of the exams will be the same as that of previous years.

Upon enrollment, Doctoral students enrolled in October 2017 will belong to the existing departments (DID or DICOS). However, master's program students enrolled in April 2018 will belong to the new unified department.
