

June 27, 2016

To Applicants of Graduate School of International Development

Committee

International Affairs and Admission

Graduate School of International Development
Nagoya University

In order to provide more people with substantial work experience an opportunity to deepen and systematize their knowledge, the Graduate School of International Development has amended a part of the Doctoral Program Application Guidebook and Forms for the Academic Year 2017 April Enrollment, namely B. Special Selection Enrollment Program for Applicants with Relevant Work Experience (April Enrollment). The details of amendment are as follows:

<Page 12 of the Application Guidebook and Forms>

1. Application Requirements

Before

..., ⑤ Have published at least one academic article, and meet one of the following conditions:

After

..., and meet one of the following conditions ((6) and (7) are only for DID applicants.):

<Page 14 of the Application Guidebook and Forms>

4. Required Documents

Before

... Furthermore, applicants who do NOT hold a Master' degree and/or who fall under categories (6) and (7) of the Application Requirements listed above must also refer to the NOTE on eligibility screening for the examination, in section 5. Application Procedures.

After

... Furthermore, DID applicants who do NOT hold a Master' degree and/or who fall under categories (6) and (7) of the Application Requirements listed above must also refer to the NOTE on eligibility screening for the examination, in section 5. Application Procedures.

Before

(13) 3 copies of Master's Thesis/Research Thesis and Summary of same, and a published article including the cover page of the publication.

Also, send an electronic file (PDF or MS Word) of Master's Thesis/Research Thesis and Summary of same to gsidexam@adm.nagoya-u.ac.jp.

After

(13) Three copies of Master's thesis and summary of same (3,000 characters in Japanese or 1,200 words in English). If a Master's thesis is not available, three copies of papers or reports from your research work and/or professional experience, equivalent to a Master's thesis, and summary of same (3,000 characters in Japanese or 1,200 words in English) (With your copy, include the cover page of the publication). Also, send an electronic file (PDF or MS Word) of Master's thesis and summary of same, or papers or reports and summary of same to gsidexam@adm.nagoya-u.ac.jp.

