内容：

IEDF is a yearly event in a field of education development. We have member universities both in Japan and overseas, and each member university takes turn hosting the event. This year, Nagoya University will be the host organization and we have 6 member universities registered for the forum: Waseda University, Hiroshima University, Osaka University, Kobe University, International Christian University and Seoul National University (South Korea). The forum is divided into two sessions:

1) Professor's session

We usually raise a theme and invite some international scholars to have a comparative discussion on the theme. For this year, the tentative theme of the session is "Equity of Education".

2) Student's session

We have 46 students from 7 universities who have registered for the forum (as of 05 Sep). In the forum, they will give a presentation about their research. The topic is not fixed, so students can present any research interest related to the education development.
